2011 ANNUAL REPORT

EXECUTIVE REPORT

ON BEHALF OF the board of directors and employees at Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, it is our privilege to once again share with you information about the status of your cooperative.

This year has been declared the International Year of Cooperatives. It offers us a chance to celebrate our legacy of innovation and to remind us of what's important in business – putting people first.

As a cooperative, we exist to meet the needs of our members. Period. That's why you attend events like your district nominating meetings and the annual meeting. You know that, as a member of Valley REC, you elect representatives from among your ranks to lead the co-op on our board of directors. These men and women work hard to make our communities strong and sustainable.

Of course, for the co-op to be strong and sustainable, we must remain financially stable, while maintaining a robust electric distribution system capable of handling the growing needs of our membership. We are proud to report that the co-op keeps a solid percentage of member equity as recommended in our equity management plan. At the end of calendar year 2011, member equity as a percentage of total assets was 41 percent.

As proof of our solid financial position, $957,108 in patronage capital was returned last year to eligible members and former members of the co-op. Nearly $19 million in capital credits has been given back over the years, and we plan to continue that course into the foreseeable future.

Technology has helped move us forward toward a more advanced distribution system infrastructure. We have nearly completed a project to upgrade all co-op meters to automated versions. These new meters are helping us troubleshoot outages more quickly and offering you more convenience and consistency with regard to your electric bills.

We also continue to update our demand response system, which is used to turn off electric water heaters and home heating and cooling systems during periods of peak demand. This program is an important resource in controlling electric rates because it trims costly demand charges and reduces the need for new generating capacity.

In the area of customer service, we've made great strides in offering the bill payment options you want most. Through an online bill presentment and payment service called E-Bill, you can now sign up for electric service, access account history and pay electric bills all from your easy chair. In addition, you can pay by credit or debit card by phone or in person at any co-op office.

We understand that one of the keys to community strength is creating opportunities for our children to succeed. That's why we support the national Rural Electric Youth Tour and numerous scholarship programs.

Of course, the bulk of our income continues to go toward maintaining and upgrading our electric distribution system. Keeping trees trimmed along our 2,900 miles of line is a vital but costly endeavor. Last year, more than $1.47 million was spent to maintain about 450 miles of right of way.

In 2011, our total investment in upgrades to the utility plant and line extensions to members exceeded $7.6 million.

We upgraded the three-phase lines between Puzzle-town and Blue Knob substations and we're nearly finished with a major upgrade of six miles of distribution tie line between Williamsburg and Ore Hill substations. We're also finishing work on a major project in the Harrisonville area to upgrade our Route 30 substation and associated distribution circuits. And we rebuilt lines in the Three Springs substation area.

Through innovation and a commitment to excellence, we will continue to work to keep your electric bills affordable and your service second to none.

Thank you for joining us as we celebrate the International Year of Cooperatives and the impact co-ops make on our lives. By uniting neighbors and friends to meet common needs, cooperative enterprises build a better world.

JAMES R. STAUFFER, Chairman of the Board

VALUE-ADDED SERVICES

Bill Payment, Your Way

Through an online bill presentment and payment service called E-Bill, co-op members may now sign up for electric service, access account history and pay electric bills online. Or they can have the amount of their monthly electric bill deducted automatically from a checking or savings account through the co-op's ElectraPay program. To access E-Bill, click on "View & Pay Bill" at www.valleyrec.com.

In addition, members may pay by credit or debit card by phone and at any co-op office location.

Home Energy Audits

Members can gain valuable insight to help manage their energy bills by using the cooperative's free, online, interactive home energy application. It features energy use calculators, a library of energy information plus a section for children. Access it by clicking on the "Save Energy" tab at www.valleyrec.com.

Valley Rural Electric employs a full-time energy specialist who is available to answer questions about energy use and who also performs in-home energy audits when necessary.

Education

Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc.

brighter future

Scholarship Program

Valley REC awards up to 25 $1,000 scholarships each year to eligible students who apply for the Brighter Future Scholarship Program. This initiative is funded by unclaimed capital credits refunds that previously had to be turned over to the state treasury. Thanks to the efforts of the co-op's political advocates, these funds can now be kept in our local communities. The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association offers two different scholarship programs as well. Visit the Scholarships page at www.valleyrec.com for more information.

Valley offers FREE presentations about electrical safety, energy conservation and environmental issues to schools and civic organizations.

Each year, Valley sponsors local high school juniors and seniors to attend the national Rural Electric Youth Tour in Washington, D.C. While on the fun-filled, all-expenses-paid trip, students tour national monuments and memorials, meet with members of Congress, visit the National Zoo and Smithsonian museums and more!

Energy Management

Cooperatives believe that the cleanest kilowatt-hour is the one that is never generated. Holding to this principle, Pennsylvania and New Jersey electric co-ops launched the Coordinated Load Management System in 1986. This demand response network, whose participants include nearly 25 percent of the cooperatives' residential consumers, currently boasts the capability to reduce about 8 to 10 percent of the entire cooperative system's peak load. Since the program's inception, this has resulted in power cost savings of more than $106 million statewide for cooperative members.

Water Heater Rebate

A rebate of up to $3 per gallon is available to members who purchase a new electric water heater. The tank's energy factor must be 0.9 or higher and the member must agree to participate in demand response.

Members who agree to participate in this worthwhile efficiency program receive a one-time $25 credit on their electric bill.
