FROM THE PRESIDENT & CEO

Your summer job:
Keep electric bills affordable

by Wayne Miller
President & CEO

SCHOOL'S OUT; vacations are under way and the heat of summer seems as if it will never end. This is also the time of year when members of Congress, such as U.S. Sens. Arlen Specter (D-Pa.) and Robert Casey Jr. (D-Pa.), and U.S. Rep. Bill Shuster (R-Pa.), will be traveling throughout our area and state asking for your thoughts on various pieces of legislation being considered in our nation's capital.

One major concern for electric co-ops has returned to the front burner. Legislation on energy and climate change policy was introduced in the U.S. Senate in April, and co-ops across the country are studying it to see what impact it might have on consumers' electric bills.

At the same time, unelected bureaucrats at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) are moving ahead with efforts to regulate emissions of carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases from power plants using the federal Clean Air Act — something the law was never designed to do. One of the main authors of the Clean Air Act, U.S. Rep. John Dingell (D-Mich.), has warned that applying the measure to establish federal oversight of carbon dioxide — which goes against the original intent of Congress — will result in a "glorious mess."

By a 53-47 vote, the U.S. Senate recently blocked a Republican-led effort that would have denied the EPA the authority to use the Clean Air Act to regulate emissions from vehicles, power plants and other facilities. Six Democrats broke ranks and joined the Republicans, who needed 51 votes to pass the resolution sponsored by Sen. Lisa Murkowski (R-Alaska). Supporters of the resolution argued that Congress, not the EPA, should decide how greenhouse gases are to be regulated. The defeat of the resolution is seen as a boost for the Obama Administration's efforts in confronting climate change issues.

Those of us at Valley Rural Electric Co-op, along with leaders at more than 900 electric co-ops across the country, are reminding lawmakers that we will judge their action or inaction on whether or not your electric bills remain affordable.

The bottom line is that any final decision made by Congress — even the decision to allow the EPA to proceed on its regulatory path — will have some impact on your electric bills. And this impact comes on top of other pressures that are forcing electric bills up, such as increased fuel and material costs and higher demand for electricity. Rest assured that your local co-op directors and staff are doing what they can to keep these cost increases constrained.

But we need your help. During the congressional break this summer, I urge you to talk to your U.S. representative and senators about your electric bill. Make sure they understand what higher bills will do to your family's budget.

More than 526,000 folks across rural America have already let their members of Congress know where they stand on energy and climate change legislation through the Our Energy, Our Future® grassroots campaign. If you haven't done so, please consider adding your voice to this national dialogue at www.ourenergy.coop.

Will you help us find these consumers?

IN DECEMBER, Valley Rural Electric distributed capital credits refunds totaling more than $868,000 to current and former members of the cooperative. Since that time, about 300 checks were returned by the post office because of incorrect address information.

We are making every effort to return this money to the rightful owners. Listed on the following pages are the names of consumers whose checks cannot be delivered. If you recognize a name and can provide an up-to-date address (or information about the executor of the estate or nearest relative if the member is deceased), please call us at 814/643-2650 or toll-free 800/432-0680. You can also write the Capital Credits Department, Valley REC, P.O. Box 477, Huntingdon, PA 16652-0477. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.
